DEPUTY PRINCIPAL'S ADDRESS

Hello Parents, Students and Community members,

Report Cards & Parent-Teacher Interviews:

As we reach the end of Term 1, it has been great to see some our student results and the work they have produced in their classes. Our Term 1 Interim Report Cards are being posted home to all families during the first week back after holidays, with information regarding Parent-Teacher Interviews included with the report cards. Parent-Teacher Interviews are scheduled for Thursday, 08 May (Week 3, Term 2) and we really encourage parents to come along and talk to their child's teachers about their progress.

Last Week of Term 1:

Attendance in the last week of this term is vital. We have many planned programs aimed at providing additional time to complete Certificate based courses and to provide intensive workshops in literacy and numeracy. Most students are either finalising assessment or commencing new units of work.

Our Year 10 students are working all week in their Certificate II in Workplace Practices Certificate block, with Year 11s finalising competencies in Certificate II in Foundation Skills. Our Year 11 OP students are getting their first taste of the Queensland Core Skills Tests, and engaging in workshops around study skills and habits. The Year 9s are spending Wednesday and Thursday sharpening their literacy and numeracy skills in targeted workshops and on Wednesday, our Year 8s have their Medieval Festival. It is an important week for all students to attend.

Cyberbullying

The internet, mobile phones and instant messaging provide wonderful opportunities for children to learn, be creative and socialise online. They also provide opportunities for inappropriate behaviour, bullying and harassment to occur — causing pain and suffering to the targets of such behaviour. We have recently had some issues where student’s online behaviours have caused concern for the good order and management of the school. I have included some information regarding Cyberbullying - see below - and what you can do as a parent to assist your child in ensuring appropriate online behaviours.

It has been a very busy term and I would like to thank all teachers, parents and community members for their contribution to making our school a place of opportunity for students. Enjoy the holiday break and I look forward to catching up with many of you at Parent-Teacher Interviews.

 Regards,

Felicity Roberts, Senior School Deputy Principal
CYBER BULLYING

Cyberbullying is when technology, such as email, mobile phones, chat rooms and social networking sites, are used to verbally or socially bully another person. Bullying is an ongoing abuse of power to threaten or harm another person.

The following are some common examples of cybersafety issues, including cyberbullying:

- sending or posting abusive, threatening, humiliating or harassing messages via text, social networking sites or email
- forwarding others’ personal emails, messages, pictures or videos without their permission
- uploading embarrassing or degrading images or videos involving other children (including fight videos)
- taking and sending sexually explicit images of other children using mobile phone or web applications
- using social networking sites or blogs to post inappropriate photographs or messages about other children or school staff
- excluding children online through emails, chat and social networking sites
- imitating others or assuming a child’s identity, then sending and posting material which damages their social status or relationships with others
- making prank calls to another child’s mobile phone.

Cyberbullying and other cybersafety issues may affect the good order and management of the school where it involves:

- bullying between children who attend the school
- images or videos of children on the school premises
- a student at the school possessing or distributing offensive video, images or texts while at school
- school information and communication technologies (ICT) resources being used.

The above are examples only — there may be other incidences that affect the good order and management of the school. Moranbah State High School takes cyberbullying seriously and our Responsible Behaviour Plan outlines consequences (such as suspension) will result where the good order and management of the school is compromised.

What can parents do to enhance their child’s cyber safety?
• place computers in spaces which are visible and open, like a family room

• monitor or supervise your child on the internet and conduct some “shoulder surfing” or “spontaneous” observing when your child is online. Be aware of what your child is doing on the internet and display an interest in their cyberspace knowledge and experience

• reassure your child they will not lose access to their technology if they report anything to you. Many children see this as punishment

• review the age suitability of any social networking sites your child joins

• review your child’s contacts, followers and page content on social networking sites/apps to help you manage their safety and reduce the risk of them associating with inappropriate contacts and content

• educate yourself on the latest threats facing children online

• try to keep communication with your child open and positive so they trust you viewing their profile

• create an account on the social networking site/app your child is using and request to become friends or follow their account. Even if your child resists your request it can still be positive for you to have your own account on the social networking site/app. This can increase your familiarity and understanding of the online environments your child is using

• reinforce the need to keep passwords private and updated regularly, but consider having access to your child’s password yourself

How can you promote your child’s cybersafety?

• ensure your child understands the implications of posting images and other content on the internet

• educate your child about appropriate online behaviours. Take time to sit with your child and participate together on the internet. Assist in developing the knowledge they need to communicate responsibly and respectfully with friends, family and other internet users

• set clear rules about your child’s mobile phone and online activities. Talk with your child about which websites and internet activities they are allowed to access

• consider installing appropriate software which has the ability to limit internet usage times and monitor/ restrict website activity

• consider installing on your computer the ‘cybersafety help button’, available from the Commonwealth

• Department of Broadband, Communications and the Digital Economy’s website: www.dbcde.gov.au/online_safety_and_security/cybersafetyhelpbutton_download

• ensure you are aware of the software and app features installed on your child’s mobile phone, music or tablet device. Many apps have age suitability recommendations and require age confirmation prior to downloading/use. Additionally, many devices support parental controls which prevent access to specific features or content. These controls can be enabled in the settings menu on your child’s device.

DRAMA UPDATE

Late last year, Kristen Booth and I were presented with the opportunity to act as Youth Ambassadors of Drama through the Mackay Entertainment Convention Centre. Being the drama lovers we are, you can imagine how we jumped at the opportunity and began the application process straight away! Since being accepted as a Youth Ambassador, we have been presented with numerous opportunities to learn and expand our dramatic horizons, through dramatic workshops, performances and meetings with other ambassadors. The most recent event Kristen and I had the privilege to attend was a workshop and theatrical performance based on George Orwell’s renowned 1984.

The workshop was an interesting and highly engaging experience in which we were able to learn many new skills and meet people with similar interests to our own. The skills that we learned were ones that we could take home to our classes and incorporate into our all dramatic escapades. The highlight of the event, however, was the theatre company Shake & Stir’s adaptation of 1984 by George Orwell. The performance was one to remember, with spectacular use of dramatic elements, it was an entirely compelling multimodal performance that would not have happened without the hard work of MECC staff and volunteers.

The Senior Drama and many Senior English students travelled to Mackay for the jaw-dropping thriller that was 1984. The performance was a 2 hour phenomena that intrigued all ages, leaving viewers to think about the direction of human life. Kristen and I would like to thank the staff at MECC, and Belinda Rooney, coordinator of the Youth Ambassador programme for enabling us the opportunity to be a part of such rare and amazing experiences. We hope to, in the future, continue to be a part of such things and be able to take what we have learnt and share it with others.

MAKE EVERYDAY COUNT IN 2014

Make 2014 the year when your child doesn’t miss a day of school. Research shows that students who have good patterns of attendance are more likely to achieve at school. If students aren’t at school or

UNDERSTANDING and SUPPORTING YOUR CHILD in an ONLINE WORLD

The internet has brought the world to our children’s fingertips, providing access to vast resources of information and the opportunity to communicate with people from around the world.

Smart devices and social media have become part of our children’s lives and they have strongly influenced how our children create, share and exchange information with others.

Unfortunately these same devices and applications have been embraced by sex offenders, who have proven to be exceptionally skilled at using them to gain access to children.

As technologies to enable you to guide, assist and supervise your children.
Children might not safeguard their personal details on the internet like they would in the real world. Therefore it is just as important to educate our children about ‘chatting’ to people online as it is meeting new people in the real world.

Below is a link to an e-brochure which provides you with practical information about internet safety and reducing online risks for children. We encourage you to review this brochure and discuss with your child how they interact in the online world.

YR 10 WORKPLACE PRACTICES

CAN YOU HELP US?

This year, our workplace practices class is working on a project to upgrade the Year 10 area.

We are doing this for the reason that the current area is dilapidated, overgrown and is in need of renovation. Some of the things in need of improving are more seating areas, adding water bubblers, a water tank, and repairing gardens and pavements. Our group has been working hard this week and we are keen for this project.

This is an immense job which is why we are asking for help from the community. In particular we are looking for sponsors and donators who can provide us with either money, time or equipment. If you can help us in any way possible please get in contact with Mr Lawson at Moranbah State High School.

Wednesday Afternoons - 3-4pm

Homework Club is an initiative put in place for students who may need a quiet space outside of school hours to complete homework or consult with a teacher regarding assessment.

PARENTING TEENAGE DAREDEVILS

Managing teenagers who have a little too much zest for life, diving head first into situations without thinking them through requires an understanding of both their inner and outer worlds, writes Lakshmi Singh.

If you were constantly holding your breath or administering first aid as your child was growing up, you probably were raising one of those thrill-seeking, adrenalin-charged, daredevils who loved to experiment and take risks in order to entertain themselves.

As they approached their teenage years, these risks might have evolved to being more sophisticated than just jumping off the top of a tree or the 'Look mum, no hands" type of stunts. From binge drinking to irresponsible driving to train surfing, your teenager may be indulging in risky behaviours that may ultimately change the entire family's life.
The teenage years are some of the most valuable years of a person's life and can also be the most vulnerable, therefore, it is highly important that parents and carers understand what is driving this behaviour and know how to manage these tendencies of their daredevil child.

THE POWER OF A SINCERE COMPLIMENT

It's amazing the impact a sincere compliment can have on the confidence and self-esteem of a child or young person.

I recently overheard a friend tell her eight-year-old daughter: "You did such a good job helping your brother yesterday. You are such a lovely big sister!" My friend's face lit up with a smile as she said it and she gently put her hand on her daughter's shoulder at the same time.

The little girl beamed, then went off to play.

It was a simple parenting moment among many that my friend would have initiated that day and I couldn't help thinking that it doesn't take much to grow kids' self esteem and create good feelings at home.

A sincerely given compliment has an enormous impact on the person who receives it. We all grow a little taller, at least inside, when we are given a compliment. We also feel closer to the person who complimented us. Compliments satisfy the deep craving we all have to be appreciated.

There is one problem though... While compliments are easy to give, they are also easy not to give.

- We forget
- We underestimate their impact
- We haven't developed the habit of giving compliments.

Amplify the impact

There were two things my friend did that amplified the impact of her compliment.

1. She smiled as she gave the compliment.
2. She toucher her daughter as well.
Touch will always amplify a compliment. It makes it personal. Her mother’s smile told her daughter what her mum really felt. In fact, the touch and smile said it all. The words reinforced the smile and touch.

The compliment was given and received through three senses - visually, kinaesthetically and auditorily.

That’s how kids receive all our messages - they see, they feel, they hear - though we often focus on the words and forget the visual and kinaesthetic.

Next time your child does something worthwhile, take the time to give a compliment.

Smile (tell your face you are happy) and add a little touch to really let them know how you feel. Watch your child’s reaction. It’ll have a significant impact.

It doesn’t take much.

QUEENSLAND POLICE SERVICE PARTY SAFE PROGRAM

Everyone enjoys going to or hosting a great party. For young people it is certainly a part of growing up and celebrating special occasions with friends.

The Queensland Police Service Party Safe program allows you to register your party with local police. Registering your party gives police the opportunity to supply you with some great advice and resources to help you organise a safe and lawful party. It also ensures that, if things do go wrong on the night, police have the information necessary to effectively deal with issues.

To find out more about Party Safe, and for some great ideas to help make your party safe, lawful and enjoyable for everyone concerned, including parents, hosts and guests, go to www.police.qld.gov.au/party.

"PARTY SAFE" FOR PARENTS

Everyone wants to enjoy themselves at a party and have a night out they will remember for all the right reasons. The following information contains strategies to help parents and guardians equip their children with the information they need to enjoy a safe party experience.

Inform yourself, speak with the party host and find out:

- How many people will be attending the party?
- Who and how many people will be supervising the party?
- Will alcohol be available at the party, and if so, how will it be managed?
- Will food be available at the party?
- What time is the party expected to finish?
- Will the party be registered with the police?
- Get the phone number of the house where the party is being held or the mobile phone number of the host.

 Reach an agreement with your child about how they will be getting home and who might accompany them home. Discourage them from walking home alone.

 Discuss what they should do if there are unexpected delays or problems with getting home, including how they might contact you to let you know of the delay or problem.

 Let your child know that you are prepared to go and pick them up. Whilst this may be inconvenient, it can reduce the risk of assault and other problems.

 Talk to your child about how to have a good time at a party without coming to harm and reinforce with them that they can enjoy themselves without alcohol or other drugs.

 Discuss backup plans should the party get out-of-control, and the importance of following any directions given to them by a police officer. It is an offence not to comply with the directions of a police officer, and if charged and convicted, could see your child facing a significant fine or imprisonment. Encourage a strong sense of responsibility in your child to do the right thing and look after themselves and their friends. For example, your child could facilitate an early and safe exit for a friend who is intoxicated.

 Remember, it is an offence to supply alcohol to a person under 18 in a public place. If you are caught supplying alcohol to any minor in a public place, you could be slapped with an on-the-spot-fine or have to attend court, where maximum penalties can apply.

If is an offence to supply alcohol to a person under 18 on private property unless you are a responsible adult for the minor (i.e. a parent, step-parent, guardian or adult who has parental rights and responsibilities for the minor) and are responsibly supervising the minor. If police are called to a party and see the irresponsible supply of alcohol to a minor, police may seize all alcohol, and if you supplied the alcohol, you could face charges in court and a significant fine.

 Talk to your child about the standard of behaviour you expect from them at the party. If your child becomes involved in any out-of-control conduct that causes or contributes to a party becoming out of control, they could be committing an offence and could face a significant fine or imprisonment. They could also be ordered by the court to contribute to an costs incurred by police in responding to the out-of-control party, and if your child is unable to pay the costs, you (as their parent) or guardian, could be called upon to pay.

 Actively monitor your child and what they are doing.

 Discuss what your child should do if they are asked by the party host or organiser to leave the party. If it happens, they should leave immediately without incident.

 It is generally illegal to drink alcohol in a public place (including a park or beach) and if found drinking in public, you could be fined or have to attend court. It is also illegal for a minor - under 18 years of age - to possess or consume alcohol in a public place - it is even illegal for a minor to carry a bottle of wine for you across the road.

Produced by the Drug and Alcohol Coordination Unit.
