ANSWERS... Week 4
During the first two weeks of term, reporting and attendance data has been analysed, identifying students who are academically at risk. Interviews with students have been taking place to identify the areas of concern and improvement strategies outlined to ensure success in the next reporting period. Academic success is closely linked to student attendance and this has again been identified as an area for improvement across all year levels. The school has placed student attendance as a major school priority and set a target of 95%. At the end of Semester 1, the following was achieved by each grade.

Parents are encouraged to ensure absences are explained at the office, and this can be easily achieved by using the new school Qparents application. Parents should have received an invitation to Qparents via email or mail. This application allows parents to see student attendance, timetable information, finance, and positive behaviour and also allows parents to explain student absences. Please contact the school office if you require a new invitation to Qparents.

Lateness has become an area that we are currently working on improving. Students are required to be at class, on time, particularly to care and morning classes. Students who arrive late to school, two or more times, will be required to complete an after school detention on a Thursday afternoon.

Facilities

The final stages of the air-conditioning upgrade has been completed, with all blocks now open and air-conditioned. The renovations to the hospitality block have also been completed. The new playing courts opened this week and from the number of students using them, they have definitely been a great addition to the school. The photos below show the before new large under covered area between C and H block and the new playing courts.

CONGRATULATIONS SHAYLEE SIM !!!

On Saturday, 23 July, Moranbah State High School student - Shaylee Sim - was awarded 2016 Central Queensland School Based Apprentice or Trainee of the Year (proudly sponsored by Gladstone Area Group Apprentices and Trainees).

Qualification: Certificate III in Early Childhood Education and Care
Training Provider: Evocca Workplace Training
Employer: Simply Sunshine Childcare

Shaylee chose a school-based traineeship in childcare education and care to gain skills and qualifications while doing something she loves.

Shaylee plans on working overseas as a private Au Pair or within childcare centres in a variety of settings.

By gaining hands-on skills within the industry, while completing her studies, Shaylee is well on her way to a fulfilling career in childcare and education.

Congratulations Shaylee !

Shaylee is now a finalist for the Queensland School Based Apprentice or Trainee of the Year, which will be announced at The Queensland Training Awards Gala Dinner in Brisbane, on Friday, 09 September 2016.

Good Luck Shaylee !

IMPORTANT CYBER SAFETY TIPS FOR PARENTS
Published by Moranbah State High School

The department has recently been alerted to random users contacting children using the social media app 'Instagram'. The Department of Education and Training recommends that parents:

1. Know which social media your child uses.
2. Discuss with your child who their online friends and followers are. Only be friends with people online who you know in the real world.
3. Take a proactive approach and establish clear and agreed rules for your child's internet use.
A BRAIN TEASER TO EXERCISE YOUR COGNITIVE SKILLS

Words are stored in the temporal lobe of your brain (in green on the cerebral cortex image to the left). But on which brain hemisphere, right or left? As you know, your brain has two sides (two hemispheres) connected by the corpus callosum. You have one temporal lobe on each side of the brain.

If you are right-handed, your language is stored mostly in your left temporal lobe. If you are left-handed, you are not so lateralized and your language is stored a bit on both sides of your brain, in the temporal lobes. Also, words that are often heard together (such as salt and pepper) or words that share some meaning (such as nurse and doctor) are connected or associated in the brain. Once you hear one, the other is often activated.

Here is a brain teaser whose aim is to stimulate the connections or associations between words in your temporal lobe. You will see pairs of words, and your goal is to find a third word that is connected or associated with both of these two words.

For example, the first pair is PIANO and LOCK. The answer is KEY. The word key is connected with both the word piano and the word lock: there are KEYS on a piano and you use a KEY to lock doors. Key is what is called a homograph: a word that has more than one meaning but is always spelled the same.

Ready to stimulate connections in your temporal lobe(s)? Enjoy! (Solutions are below. Please don’t check them until you have tried to solve all the pairs! Answers are located at the end of the newsletter.)

1. LOCK — PIANO
2. SHIP — CARD
3. TREE — CAR
4. SCHOOL — EYE
5. PILLOW — COURT
6. RIVER — MONEY
7. BED — PAPER
8. ARMY — WATER
9. TENNIS — NOISE
10. EGYPTIAN — MOTHER
11. SMOKER — PLUMBER
Kids can be very strategic at getting you to agree to what they want. But two can play at that game!

Ever had a child who keeps asking for a favour or a treat over and over until they get the response they want? These kids generally use one of two strategies. They may either nag or hound you until they get an affirmative response or they seek out another adult who will give them the answer they want.

Pester power wears you down!
From a kid's point of view, the first method, which is based on persistence, is generally very effective with tired parents and sole parents who are more vulnerable to this type of behaviour. “All right have the ice cream. Anything for some peace and quiet,” is a response that most people who have spent time around children are familiar with. The same applies to adolescents: “Okay, you can go to the party. Just stop nagging me about it!”

Playing one parent off against the other
The second method is a little more devious but very effective and usually occurs in dual parent families. You know the situation. A child’s request for a treat, favour or outing is turned down for good reason (“No Jessica you can’t have an ice cream now. Wait until after dinner”). The child then goes to the other parent (without sharing the conversation they’ve just had with you!) in the hope that he or she may well give them the positive answer they are looking for.

These situations can drive parents crazy and are indicative of two people operating on different parenting planes. If it happens every now and again, then it is no big deal. However, if one parent is always granting a child his or her wishes without consultation or thought about what the other parent thinks, then it’s probably time to step back and reflect on how you can both work better together.

One “no” is enough
Be firm with a child or young person who goes to another parent in search of a ‘yes’ after they have received a knock back.

“Where did you get that ice cream from? I already said no.”

“Daddy said I could have it.”

“I am sorry but you should not go to Daddy after I said ‘No’.”

If in doubt, defer
The other technique that you can use when one parent tends to give in more often is to agree to defer to each other whenever a child or young person asks something tricky.

“Okay Jessica, I’ll just check with Dad and get back to you.”

This strategy can be wearing and even artificial but it’s helpful in bringing the other parent into the picture and it also demonstrates that you are double act.

It’s the smartest way to manage teens as they have a propensity to corner you into making quick decisions. The principle here is to control the timing of your responses and not be railroaded into snap decisions.

Take it in turns saying “no”
Most dual parents play good cop/bad cop, with one being the disciplinarian or hard-line manager and the other more the play director. That tends to be the way of families. This is wearing on the bad cop so it helps if you can swap roles (or even backbones) occasionally so that the ‘bad cop’ parent gets a break. Sole parents play both roles, which is draining.

Managing children who won’t take no for an answer demands teamwork, a willingness to hold your ground and, most importantly, good communication skills. The aim is to reach a point that when you say “No, not this time” (or however you say it), your kids actually believe what you say.

The following brain teaser has been shared more than 3 million times on Facebook. It seems to be easy for some people but difficult for others. Which group are you in?

• 6 + 4 = 210
• 9 + 2 = 711
• 8 + 5 = 313
• 5 + 2 = 37
• 7 + 6 = 113
• 9 + 8 = 117
• 10 + 6 = 416
• 15 + 3 = 1218
• ?? + ?? = 123

ARE YOUR TEENS OFF TO SCHOOLIES?
Published by Moranbah State High School

Parents play an important role in preparing their teens for end-of-year celebrations. If your teenager is planning to go to Schoolies, it’s important to discuss their plans.

The Queensland Government’s Safer Schoolies initiative does not promote participation in Schoolies but seeks to enhance the safety and responsible behaviour of school leavers across the state.

Prior to Schoolies each year, the Queensland Government delivers important education sessions to Year 12 students in schools across South East Queensland.

For resources and information about how to prepare and keep your teen safe over Schoolies, follow the Schoolies Info for Parents Facebook page.

The Queensland Government is conducting its annual statewide survey of students who left school in Years 10, 11 and prior to completing Year 12 during 2015. The Early School Leavers survey is a short, confidential survey that collects information about what young people are doing the year after leaving school. The information from the survey helps our schools to understand the pathways young people follow after leaving school and to plan services to support transitions into study or employment for our students.

Between July and August 2016, our students who left school in Years 10, 11 and prior to completing Year 12 last year, can expect to receive an invitation to complete a web-based survey or a telephone call from the Queensland Government Statistician’s Office to complete the survey. Please encourage early school leavers to take part.

WHERE DO WORDS GO? Answers:
1. LOCK – PIANO > KEY
2. SHIP — CARD > Deck
3. TREE — CAR > Trunk
4. SCHOOL – EYE > Pupil (Exam and Private are also possible)
5. PILLOW – COURT > Case
6. RIVER — MONEY > Bank (Flow is also possible)
7. BED — PAPER > Sheet
8. ARMY — WATER > Tank
9. TENNIS — NOISE > Racket
10. EGYPTIAN — MOTHER > Mummy
11. SMOKER — PLUMBER > Pipe

BRAIN TEASER... Answer

Split the resulting number “123” into 2 parts - 1 and 23. Those numbers will be 2 results. “1” will be result of “first number minus second number”. “23” will be result of “first number plus second number”.

So it’s easy to see that those 2 numbers will be 12 and 11.

12 - 11 = 1
12 + 11 = 23

Write them together and you get 123.

So the answer is 12 + 11 = 123.

Was it hard?
